WE'RE FOR AMERICA! AMERICANS!

For Circuit Judge.
Hon. WILLIAM G. DEARING of Fleming county is the Republican candidate for Circuit Judge of the Nineteenth Judicial District, to be voted for on Tuesday, November 30, 1897.Bar silver has declined to 59 cents, making the metal value of a silver dollar 45.63 cents, the low-water mark.
And yet the price of wheat waltzes about the 70 cent mark. What has become of the Popocratic prophets?

Go out to Electric Park tonight.

10 cents.Don't fail to place your "ad" in THE LEDGER if you want the most for your

Manhattan, Kansas, Monday, aged 83, was for a time owner of the M. and L.
Railroad between this city and Paris.It is believed at Frankfort that Governor Bradley will pay no attention to the report of the Fayette Grand Jury on the management of the Eastern Lunatic Asylum.Mr. John Griffith and Miss Eliza Warren were married in the parlors of the Diener House by Judge Hutchins at 2:45 p. m. The couple was from Flemings-burg.Catherine Miller, aged 56, claiming Maysville as her home, was dismissed on a lunacy complaint at Cincinnati. She is charged by her neighbors with being particularly careless in handling fire.Why does Ripley always have a big attendance at his Fair? Because the admission fee is only 25 cents and horses and teams are admitted free, and because she pays good premiums and pays in gold before the stock leaves the ring, and because the Fair is held on the nicest Fairgrounds in Ohio.A correspondent of The Danville Advocate says: "Every year I hear of caterpillars destroying whole orchards, and there is nothing more easily disposed of.
I bore a hole deep enough to reach the sap, fill it with sulphur and then plug it up. The result is magical. The sap takes up the sulphur to every branch and twig, and the caterpillars die at once.
I have never known of a tree being injured by it, and I have pursued the course for years."E. W. Stewart of Eddyville, who accidentally shot himself, is doing well. He has been quite unwell of late. A few months ago he lost his wife. Last week he received an appointment as Guard at the branch prison and went up from Mayfield, his home, to take his job and was robbed that night of $140. He went to work next morning, and in the evening, while leaving his stand, he dropped his gun and it fired, the ball passing through the fleshy part of his thigh.County Clerk C. O. Lowrey of Smith-land issued a marriage license to C. W.
Willoughby of Union county and Miss Belle Rigby of Hampton. Mr. Willoughby informed Mr. Lowrey that he (the groom) had walked from Union county to Hampton, thence to Smithland to procure the license, and that it was his intention to walk to Hampton, where the nuptial knot was to be tied, after which he would put the bride aboard the back for Union county and take it afoot.

Electric wires are dangerous—and deadly. Workmen are now engaged in strengthening additional telephone wires.
These sometimes break and come in contact with the electric wires, when to touch them means almost sure death.
Parents are hereby notified to caution their children not to catch hold of these wires—or any other wires attached to the telephone or streetcar systems.

CONVENTION!

The Republicans Nominate Candidates For Judge and Attorney.

FLEMING AND BRACKEN MEN.

Pursuant to call, the Republicans of Greenup, Bracken, Lewis, Fleming and Mason counties met at the Courthouse yesterday afternoon to nominate candidates for Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney for the Nineteenth Judicial District.The Convention organized by the choice of Mr. Thomas A. Davis of Mason as Temporary Secretary and Captain H.
C. Weaver of Bracken as Temporary Chairman.All Republican Editors were made Assistant Secretaries.On motion, the Committee on Credentials was dispensed with, and the temporary organization was made permanent.A Committee on Resolutions was appointed, consisting of Hon. John P. Mc-Cartney of Fleming, Judge J. D. Bennett of Greenup, Thomas Forman of Mason, H. C. Yates of Bracken and Hon. S. G.
Hillis of Lewis.During the absence of the Committee Lieutenant-Governor W. J. Worthington responded to loud calls and made a stirring address, concluding by nominating Hon. William G. Dearing of Fleming for Circuit Judge.The nomination of Mr. Dearing was ably seconded by Captain W. H. Harrison of Fleming, and it was made unanimous.Judge A. A. Wadsworth of this city nominated Hon. Ed. Daum of Bracken for Commonwealth's Attorney, and there being no other name presented the nomination was made unanimous.The Committee on Resolutions presented the following, which was unanimously adopted:Resolved, That we, the Republicans of Nineteenth Judicial District in Convention assembled, do hereby reaffirm our faith in the Republican principles as declared and set forth in the St. Louis platform of 1896, and again ratify, confirm and pledge ourselves to same.Messrs. W. B. Pugh of Lewis, Lieutenant-Governor Worthington of Greenup and Judge A. A. Wadsworth of Mason were appointed to present Messrs. Dearing and Daum to the Convention.Mr. Dearing was introduced and accepted the nomination in the following eloquent and impressive speech:Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen: No General with his greatest victory could possibly feel prouder than I do today.During the bitter and memorable campaign of '96, the intensity of which I hope we may never see again, I felt it a duty, yea a solemn duty, to renounce my allegiance to the Democratic doctrines as declared in the Chicago platform, and do what I could in my feeble way to defeat the nominee of that party.
While the men who composed that Convention were brave and patriotic from their standpoint and spoke in no uncertain terms, yet the doctrines which they promulgated were in my opinion detrimental to the best interest of our country. No one hated more than I to cut loose from party ties and party friends. But I felt we had reached a crisis in National affairs when the individual citizen should throw away ambition and do what his own heart, conscience and judgment told him was right. I believed that the success of the principles of the Chicago Convention meant the destruction of our National monetary integrity and ultimately the dismemberment of our Union. I could see in the future the direful results of civil strife, with the awful accompanying results.So, believing this, I felt that the only way for me to act was to fight boldly like a true American citizen for their defeat. [Applause.] In doing this I thought the days of my political influence were run, and that the only pleasures in this particular would be the proud recollection of what I conceived to be a duty faithfully done. I saw no middle ground upon which to stand. I desired the defeat of the principles of the Democratic party.
What I did I wanted to do directly, openly and above board.I held a Democratic office at the time which I offered to surrender, and which some of the Democratic leaders requested me to keep because of the important questions affecting the country's interest that would thereafter come up.Then commenced my little part in the National campaign. I made speech after speech in the support of Major McKinley. [Applause.] I suffered no one to pay one cent of my expenses but myself, and I assure you they amounted to no little. Ah, then commenced vituperation and abuse against me, which waxed warmer, hotter and more virulent as the campaign progressed. So cruel had it become that it nearly wrecked the health of a happy home. As it neared the end the doorbell of my house never rang in my absence but those who were near and dear to me by the laws of God and part of my life-blood believed it was a messenger conveyingsad news from me. Oh, you can imagine the anxiety and solicitude of those under my own vine and fig tree.So you see I have been baptized, as it were, in water, fire and blood in your behalf. I am inseparably and indissolubly linked to you.
[Applause.]My motives were questioned by the opposition and my integrity was doubted. But, thank God, I have lived long enough to see nearly every one of them, with but very few exceptions, come to me and say he was sorry for the part he had taken against me. Then comes this happy climax—a happy victory to me—of the Republican party declaring me its standard-bearer for one of the most important offices in the state, without me asking for it, over my protest and with me insisting upon the nomination of another man. This mark of confidence is to me a sufficient reward for all the calumny heaped upon me. [Applause.]You knew the motives which actuated me; you knew the determination with which I worked, expecting hereafter political death and little dreaming of the nomination you have given; you knew of the genuine patriotism that inspired me, hence this stamp of approval will be one of the proudest heritages I shall leave to my children.In accepting your nomination let me say I feel proud of the honor of being your standard-bearer. By your hearty co-operation we will win. I shall do my part. You know under what flag we march.My distinguished opponent, against whom I have naught to say, was nominated at Vanc-burg without the declaration of a single principle. You do not know whether he is for Free-silver or for a Gold Standard. As he was the nominee of the Free-silver organization he certainly should have been given enough political to let people know by some kind of a resolution just how he stood.I subscribe to your declarations, and the people of our district will know under what flag we march. When I am elected, as I believe I shall be, don't think or suppose for one moment that any one man, two men, three men or set of men or any number of men will control me. I will try cases according to the law and the testimony, giving to each case the careful consideration of an upright Judge, knowing no religious creed, no color, no man and no section. All shall go into the scale of Justice and be weighed alike. So help me God, I will do it. [Applause.]Again I thank you, one and all, for the interest you have manifested in my behalf, and I hope you will never have occasion to regret it in any particular. [Loud applause.]Mr. Daum was then presented and accepted the honor in these well-chosen remarks:Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention: I am not here for the purpose of making a political speech, but having been honored by the Republicans of the Nineteenth Judicial District by being nominated their candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney I desire to express my profound sense of the honor thus conferred. Deeply impressed with the responsibility thus assigned me, I accept the nomination, and come before you to bear my part of the contest, and in the language of the great McKinley, now President of the United States, "There must be no over-confidence or indifference—earnest and intelligent work, individual and united, is the demand of the hour and the requirements of duty."I believe in the principles contained in the Republican National Platform, adopted June, 1896. I shall, if elected, try to discharge the duties of the office without fear, prejudice or partiality to the best of my ability.Again thanking you for this honor, I hereby submit my claims to the voters of the Nineteenth Judicial District of Kentucky, wishing and hoping for success, not simply for myself, but for the entire Republican state, district and county tickets, because I regard the success of the Republican party as the most important thing in the state of Kentucky.In response to calls Hon. John P. Mc-Cartney briefly addressed the Convention, eliciting frequent applause.

The Convention then adjourned.

Hardin Station, Union county, had sold and delivered up to last Saturday 140 gallons of blackberries, and expected to sell at least that many more before the season was over. At 15 cents, the price she got, the berries brought her about $42.On Market street yesterday Thomas Brierly and V. O. Morford were in conversation, when Morford called Brierly a liar. Mr. Brierly immediately "called" Morford by swiping him one in the jaw.
"Squire Howe fined each $5 and costs, Brierly for breach of the peace and Morford for using insulting language.To a close observer it looks a little like there will be a repetition of the craze for sheep which prevailed our country some years ago. The demand is brisk and growing, but has not yet reached a point where anybody will get hurt. The truth of the matter is there has never been a time when a few sheep on the farm would not have been about as profitable as anything else, and we are glad to see them again assuming their relative importance.The Lexington Argonaut says: Mother Cleophas Mills of St. Catherine's her selection as Mother Superior of the Sisters of Charity in the United States.

The mother house is at Nazareth near will go during the week to assume the duties of her new appointment. Mother Cleophas has for nearly half a ion county issued a marriage license to John Kroguski and Miss Teresa Willet, says The Falcon. The ceremony was performed at St. Catherine's Church, Nelson county, on August 16th, 1870, by the Rev. Father Mantor, but the license and certificate of marriage were returned to the County Clerk only a few days ago, nearly twenty-seven years after the time they ought to have been returned. The Briest who united the couple has been dead for many years.

SISTER'S ASSAILANT

Shot and Then Fled Without Mercy—The Sayer Surrenders Himself.SHELBYVILLE, Ky., July 29.—James Shrapshire, a farmer living in the Joyce Station neighborhood, five miles west of this place, shortly after noon Wednesday shot and killed Allan Matthews, a colored man, whom he him and acts as his housekeeper. The dead man had been in the employ of Shrapshire for several years past.Mr. Shrapshire was running a thrashing machine in the neighborhood, and had occasion to return to the house for some repairs, when he heard his sister's screams. He quickly grabbed a shotgun, and on entering the kitchen discovered the burly brute choking the lady. On being discovered the fellow attempted to escape by jumping through the window, but not before he had received the contents of both barrels of the gun. Both took effect and he dropped in a nearby cornfield. The enraged brother followed him, and despite his piteous appeals for mercy emptied five pistolshots into his prostrate form.Immediately after the occurrence Shrapshire came to town and surrendered himself to the authorities.

County Judge Tipton released him on $1,000 bail, which he quickly furnished.
